ABOUT ME:

I am a self taught web developer from Central Kansas. I have been in sales and sales management for about 6 years. I have always been involved with computers, and at a young age I tried my hand at Unity game development but, more recently, found my passion in web development through tools like React, JavaScript, NodeJS, and many more. I am searching for a company that I can grow my career and skill set with for many years to come.
